(By Battery Reporter.)

The members of the three services Army, Navy and Air Force, are contributing to the well-being of their comrades held prisoners of war overseas. They are giving up part of their rations of butter and cheese, that the gross saving of these foods can be divided equally among the hundreds of food parcels being sent to prisoners of war. There is no possibility of the fighting men going short of necessary food vitamins and calories through their contributions. There will be a corresponding increase in their jam and lard rations.

Under the program each will give up one-sixth of an ounce of butter a day and one-eighth ounce of cheese. This may be a small amount per individual, but National Defence Headquarters has announced that each minute per capita savings will total more than 1,500,000 pounds of cheese and 1,200,000 pounds of butter a week.

The marksmanship competition on March 17th was a success. Pay parade, was of course, a great help. Teams from Glasgow, London, and the Gleichen team had the highest average. For the March 17th competition, the following qualified:

Lt. P. B. Nelson 90 percent.
Sgt. H. Chalmers 90 percent.
Sgt. S. M. Robt. Leung 88 percent.
Lt. P. Rogers, D.C.M., 88 percent.
Sgt. Wm. Kennedy 88 percent.
Seventy-five members of the unit attended this parade.

United States troops stationed in Britain have to pay at canteens. Our supplies received free from the British government. Thus the United States Army authorities follow the same practice in the U. S. Army canteens. Post exchanges as the British authorities follow in distributing lend-lease food to the British consumer. Presumably they do so far precisely the same reason namely that this is the only practical, efficient and fair way to distribute these supplies.

The Gleichen Artillery Cadet Corp has been issued some very fine equipment—a Swift's training rifle, a No. 22 rifle, a telephone and signalling lamp. They have been busily engaged during the past month in training their stragglers in the competitions as well as the Youth of Empire. Results are not as good as in previous years but the boys are doing well for their age. The Youth of Empire has the highest total to date for the juniors and Robert Service for the seniors. (Editorial note: We have seen some of their cards and they were so near 100 percent, and so much better than many of us seniors could do, that we take our hats off to them.)

There will be no parades at any point during Easter week. Those who have attended regularly have earned a rest, but their attendance is expected for all parades called before camp. This year, the camp will be very interesting and the battery should be represented by well trained personnel.

One of the most important problems dealing with rehabilitation is being met by a service club in Canada. The organization has taken it upon itself to assist materially in the placement of physically disabled men in the fighting forces in gainful employment. The club takes an interest in each man while he is in hospital during convalescence. Advice is given him as to what line of endeavor he is best suited with regard to handicap. When the man is discharged, or about to be discharged from hospital, the organization spares no effort to find a job for him in the line of his interest. The club is also undertaking where his disability will be of no handicap. So far several men have been so placed, almost immediately after the program opened. Tests and experiments undertaken recently have shown that many physical disabilities are far from a detriment to successful work.

A WISE DECISION

Thousands of Canadian hearts were lightened last week by the announcement that time for payment of 1943 income tax balances has been extended to August 31st.

Many patriotic citizens, gleefully of their conviction that they could meet the income tax payments by April 30th and buy Sixth Victory Loan bonds at the same time, now rejoice to find that they will not be barred from joining their fellow countrymen in the most important home war effort to date.

Most people have discovered that the purchase of Victory bonds gives them a tangible feeling that they are actually helping up Canadian men in uniform. To have taken away from a portion of these the opportunity of participating again would have been regrettable. There is ample proof that throughout the rank and file of Canadian citizens there is far more than enough ready cash to pass the minimum objective of $1,200,000,000 for the Sixth Victory Loan campaign. With the income tax snag removed, the sales to individuals should surpass all previous records.

Official Ottawa deserves added commendation in this regard because the income tax announcement was made a month before the Victory Loan opening instead of the vice of the campaign. There has been allowed for a readjustment of personal budgets, and a spirit of buoyancy has been injected into the pre-war period which should prove invaluable in creating the enthusiasm necessary to the success of any campaign.

OUR FIRST WEEK IN LONDON

Thursday was spent with the troops at No. 1 Base Ordnance Workshop, C.O.C., where Canadian army vehicles and equipment is repaired by Canadian workmen who are doing a job surpassed by none. In 1940 the repairing of Canadian equipment caused much concern in Canadian army circles and Brigadier MacQuinn, D.M.G.C., went to work to break the bottleneck. Through the energy and foresight of this officer the Canadians have a repair set-up today which must feel proud. It is true that a good many millions of dollars are represented in the many repair assembly buildings one sees for the equipment is all new and of the latest models. It is planned here by a staff which carried on that type of work prior to the war, although here and there you will find into boys who are really learning a trade—something that will stand in good stead after the war is over. On the assembly line you will see men working as hard as if they were on a piece work in a motor car plant and every hour the figures on the sign board change. Showing the production for the hour and the total for the day. Later we will try to give you a full outline of the work of the Base Ordnance Workshop, which covers some 500,000 square feet of floor space.

Last Thursday afternoon we continued our journey where on Saturday we spent a few hours with some of the Canadian navy, Lt. Cmdr. Wm. Slater conducting the party. Here we had an opportunity to look over the style of crafts which may be used in the coming invasion of Europe. A little time was also spent on board one of England's warships which is used for training purposes. Most of our time was spent in one of the gun turrets and we marvelled at the ease with which this gun is handled, and as the enemy comes into his sight target. Vision at sea is limited to about five miles at sea level.

We have also had the opportunity of seeing some of the bomb damage caused in Southampton by the big raids ordered November and December, 1940. One section of the city is completely wiped out. Some 700 persons were killed in these raids and thousands made homeless. In all areas we visited one cannot help but note the large number of churches which have been destroyed. Today the people of this district have resumed their normal activities and things go on as usual. They seem to think nothing of the destruction that is all around them. Some, we are informed (Continued on another page)

As Canada swings its mighty weight along into the fifth year of war our tremendous mass of war production hasn't slackened very perceptible. Canadian men and women still engaged directly in war production, or in ancillary industries, total over a million. Think of that. Since inception the Department of Munitions and Supply have awarded ten bills totaling in war contracts some of which are still unfilled, and requisitions for additional weapons and supplies are being put through every day. Canada reached in 1943 the biggest record of domestic exports in history, an increase of 221.3 per cent over 1939, but more than 70 per cent of this amount was, of course, directly related to war needs.

The birds can be sent back by the airman with messages on their needs.

WRITTEN SPECIALLY FOR THE WEEKLY NEWSPAPERS OF CANADA BY THE EDITORIAL STAFF OF THE SUN

All this talk about Ottawa being a "girl town" seems to be a local misconception. The whole nation will be surprised to learn that Ottawa has 72,000 males, 82,851 females. But you wouldn't think so by a street glance. Of the total, 31,500 were shown as English origin, 32,347 Irish, 12,500 of Scottish extraction and 45,081 French. Eskimos and Indians resident in Ottawa number 41.

At various times farmers have protested against daylight saving as a wartime measure. A survey by the Power Controller of Canada brought the information that for the March time cancellation would mean an estimated 10 per cent increased power demand, undesirable at present Quebec's power in metropolitan areas would jump 60,000 H.P., which could not be taken care of by present generating capacity; Ontario would see demand rocketed by 75,000 H.P., while British Columbia generating stations are already overloaded. Only the prairie provinces report sufficient capacity to carry increased demand.

A Survey Of Education

DURING THE TROUBLED times which we are now passing, there is a general tendency to look ahead, and to hope for a better world when the war is ended. Education is a fundamental factor in social progress, and it holds an important place in any plan which may make for post-war improvements. A recent report, made by the Survey Committee of the Canada and Newfoundland Education Association, contains some interesting facts concerning our Canadian schools, and points out some ways in which our educational system could be adjusted, to meet the needs of these changing times. There is a very well known saying to the effect that "the children of today are the citizens of tomorrow." With this in mind, outstanding educationalists have conducted a nation-wide survey, the first to be made here. Their report deals with numerous problems relating to our school systems.

Larger School Units Proposed

An adequate program of health service for all children is stressed as a fundamental need. It is further proposed that educational opportunities be equalized in all areas, whether rural or urban. Canada at present has 26,649 school administrative units, and of this number 14,692 units employ only one teacher, while 1,480 employ but two teachers. These small units represent more than three quarters of the whole, and pupils are taught all subjects from grade one to grades nine or ten in one or two-room schools. Recommendations of the committee include the suggestion that larger units be set up to afford greater facilities for the children in rural districts, and that pupils living at a distance from the school be provided with transportation or living accommodation in hotels or boarding houses. It is also proposed that as soon as possible after the war, building program be undertaken to supply necessary new buildings and to repair old ones, and that the number of supervisors and inspectors be increased. "Bright teachers" are suggested as classroom teachers, especially in the primary grades.

Many Reforms Are Outlined

In recommending educational matters, the report reveals that the amount of money spent per child per year varies widely throughout the Dominion, the minimum being $31.70 per pupil, and the maximum $88.38. The average teacher's salary in Canada is $752 per year, and 74.9 per cent of the teachers receive less than $1,222 a year. This is compared with the average wages of workers in all Canadian industries, which was $1,297 a year in 1940. The report suggests that the present yearly school expenditure in the Dominion, which is $148,832,642, be doubled, and that additional annual expenditures be provided for. It proposes that all fees be abolished in elementary and secondary schools, a system of scholarships be set up to enable gifted students to continue their studies, that the average teacher's salary be raised to $1,321; that library facilities be improved and extended; that the school-leaving age be placed at sixteen years and that part-time attendance should be required until the age of eighteen. These are only some of the proposals which are made for improving the preparation of Canadian youth to assume the responsibilities of citizenship.

"I've found I can give up dosing!"

"I've found a far better way to correct constipation. One that gives me the kind of lasting relief I've always wanted, and never got, from harsh pills and purgatives. I've tried everything, but it's KENLOGG'S ALL-BRAN regularly for me from now on." Such a happy experience! Just one of thousands.

among people who have tried KENLOGG'S ALL-BRAN for constipation due to lack of "bulk" in the diet. ALL-BRAN corrects the cause of such trouble, by supplying "bulk-forming" material needed for easy, natural elimination. If this kind of constipation has plagued you, try KENLOGG'S ALL-BRAN regularly, or several ALL-BRAN muffins every day. Drink plenty of water. See if you don't praise its welcome relief! Get ALL-BRAN at your grocer's! 2 convenient sizes. Made by Kellogg's in London, Can.

Telephone Of Future

Will Be Self-Anspering With Device For Talking Messages

A telephone that will answer itself and talk back to you when you come home was predicted by Bell Telephone Laboratories Inc. in New York for after the war.

The self-answering phone uses a recording device, usually a magnetic record on a steel tape, from which messages can later be erased by passing the tape between two poles of a magnet, thus permitting it to be used again and again.

If nobody answers the phone, the caller can start talking to the tape. When the person called comes home, he picks up the receiver and the message is "played" to him.

A variation of this device already in use records a two-way conversation for permanent records, but somebody has to pick up the receiver to make it work.—Newspaper.

WHAT'S IN A NAME

Out To Win

And President Of Britain's Board Of Trade Expects Co-operation

Hugh Dalton, president of Britain's Board of Trade, has allowed down more wheels than any other man in this world. These were the wheels that produced peace-time goods—and he started them spinning again in factories rapidly equipped for war production. The long sequence of his career framed by him has had more effect upon the lives of men, women and children in Britain than the edicts of any other Minister with the exception of Lord Woolton, says Augustus Muir in "Britain." But if anything is notable for its absence it is a grumble about the Dalton austerity drive. Mr. Dalton is out to win the war and he expects every member of his staff to keep pace with him. He sleeps in a room next door to his office and he is back at his desk after dinner at night. Scarcely does he retire to his country house for a brief week-end; seldom does he see Mrs. Dalton whose own hands are full with important war work. Before he took office as President of the Board of Trade, Mr. Dalton controlled the Ministry of Economic Warfare. He is an acknowledged expert in foreign policy and international trade relations. He served in France and on the Italian front in the last war, receiving a decoration for valor.

BACKACHE? Look out for Trouble With Your KIDNEYS

If your back aches or if you have disturbed sleep, burning or smarting, look out for trouble. This is because signs that your kidneys are not fully doing their blood-purifying work and wastes. ### GEMS OF THOUGHT

TRUTH

It is better to suffer wrong than to do it, and happier to be somewhat than to not to trust.—Samuel Johnson.

To be trusted is a greater compliment than to be loved.—George MacDonald.

Trust Truth, not error; and Truth will give you all that belongs to the right of freedom. — Mary Baker Eddy.

We do not trust God, but tempt Him, when our expectations slacken our exertions. — M. Henry.

An undivided heart, which worships God alone, and trusts Him as it should, is raised above all anxiety for earthly wants. — Gieske.

The stars come nightly to the sky. The tidal waves come to the sea. No time, nor space, nor deep, nor high. Can keep my own away from me. — John Burroughs.

Price Control And Rationing Information

Q—It seems that the chocolate bars these days aren't to be compared with those we used to buy in size and in quality. Is this because of the shortage of cocoa? Or is there a law prohibiting candy of this quality from reducing the size of their bars?

A—The Wartime Prices and Trade Board does control the weights of chocolate bars. All types of bars must conform to the regulations. If they did during the basic period, in the year of 1911. One and a half ounces for a moulded plain or milk chocolate bar. One and a quarter ounces for a moulded plain or milk chocolate with other ingredients. One and three quarter ounces for a chocolate bar with other ingredients. And two ounces for a confectionery bar that is not chocolate-coated.

Q—What should be done with a household belonging to a household die, his or her ration book must be turned in to the local ration board immediately by the legal representative of the deceased, or by some member of the household.

Q—I am about to move into a new house shortly, and yesterday on talking to the tenants who are moving out I found that the landlady was charging me a higher rent than they have been paying. What should I do?

A—If you are sure of your facts, I would suggest that you take the matter up with your landlord and get the matter adjusted before you move.

Speaking of Breakfast!

There are breakfasts AND breakfasts! In yours one that will give you body and the best possible start for the day and recreation that lies ahead—or is it merely the cup of coffee that gives brief stimulation without providing energy and stamina? To start the day without breakfast is like trying to run an automobile without gas or oil. We suggest breakfast! It is almost impossible to secure a sufficient amount of food, and the recommended daily amounts of these important food essentials at the other meals. Someone has stated that "if more children had an adequate breakfast before coming to school, we would have more A's on the report cards and fewer A's in the register because of illness." An adequate breakfast is a nourishing meal that will supply the foods which you are not apt to eat in the other meals, and also is a meal that is substantial in "breaking the fast" and supplying energy for a new day. An adequate breakfast also contains the energy-giving foods and the regulating foods. It should supply about one-fourth of the daily calories, and should be considered in planning the day's meals as a whole. Growing children need to have fruit or fruit juice, a cooked whole-grain cereal, occasionally interchange with a ready-to-eat cereal, an egg, toast, and all the milk they can drink. Remember that good breakfasts get the day off to a good start.

Haile Selassie

Art Of Cooking Taugt Negus By United States Women

Haile Selassie, Negus of Abyssinia, and his wife have developed a liking for American strawberry tarts—all because of Mrs. Della Hanson of Hutchinson, Minn.

Gray-haired, middle-aged Mrs. Hanson has also introduced the Negus and his family to other delicacies of American cookery such as planked steaks, apple pie, and occasionally ice cream.

The Cairo French daily "Journal d'Egypte" writes, "Herbert Hanson, Addis Ababa about 10 years ago to take their place among the missionaries of the Seventh Day Adventist Church. They stayed in the country despite the Italian invasion and devoted their energy to healing wounded Abyssinians. They returned to Addis Ababa when the British forces entered the capital."

When Haile Selassie returned to his throne he needed a housekeeper, and Mrs. Hanson accepted the job. She immediately began a revolution in the emperor's five cooks and introduced such strange dishes as potato salad.

Mrs. Hanson also buys the Emperor's dresses.

A Good Idea

Bridge Built By Eighth Army Sappers Named Ponte Monty

To the accompaniment of singing by a choir formed mainly of Welshmen, Eighth Army sappers recently completed their greatest bridge-building feat of the war. About 380 of them, with 100 lorries, flung a 1,200-ft-long steel bridge across a river in 10 days.

At night the men, who hailed from all parts of the Empire, worked under floodlights with officers always ready to switch the light off at the approach of enemy aircraft.

Gen. Montgomery watched the early stages of the building. One day he put his shoulders to help move it into position.

"That suggests the name for the bridge, sir," said one standing by. "What's that?" asked Montgomery. "Ponte Monty," said the officer. That is not the official name of the bridge, but the Eighth Army is well known as Ponte Monty, reports the London Daily Herald.

SCHARNHORST BATTLE

The problem in the last battle with the "Scharnhorst" was to get her within range of the "Duke of Edinburgh's" 14-inch guns. The courageous attack of three British destroyers against the much heavier gun.

"Scharnhorst" achieved this. This makes a remarkable contrast with the German destroyers against the "Scharnhorst" who made off and took no part in the action.

When Russians asked a captured German where his division was he said, "In the division." The rest of it had something to do with subtraction.

So often now— NAMES MAKE SAD NEWS*

● The names in this newspaper that interest you most are names of boys you know who are on active service... boys from this community. You used to read their names in school reports, in church and Sunday school items, in news of sport. You read these names today in news from the fighting fronts. So often now these names make sad news. Let's do all we can to hasten the day when our newspapers can tell of happy things.

Yes, we can do something to hasten that glad day.

When we do this job we help to win victory sooner. We help to end the war sooner. And we do something to benefit ourselves.

The job that we are asked to do is to save our money and lend it to our country.

As each new fighting front is opened more money is needed. More people must be ready to furnish this money.

More Victory Bonds will be issued. Those who have not bought Victory Bonds before must buy them. Those who have bought bonds must buy more. We are not asked to give... we are just asked to lend. We will have money for things we plan to do, after the war.

Dedicate yourself to this war effort... something you can do... one thing you must do. Your help is urgently needed.

BEARS IN THE NATIONAL PARKS

Among the great attractions afforded by Canada's national parks is the opportunity to see wild animals in their natural surroundings, but cured of the fear of man. All national parks are wild life sanctuaries. The animals learn that man will not harm them, and they become very tame. Sometimes, particularly in the case of bears this proves to be their undoing.

The public loves to feed bears, and otherwise to fraternize with them. Notices in the parks and in the park literature asking them not to do so have little effect. Perhaps if they understood that being "kind" to a bear is the most unkind thing they can do to him, the park regulations would be better observed.

Instances abound where bears had been petted until they became so bold and troublesome that they had to be destroyed. In Waterton Lakes National Park a mother bear and her two cubs, which had been pampered by tourists, tore the screen door off a cottage while the family were out and helped themselves to some freshly baked pies. They also knocked over and damaged the lobby's floor glassware, and china were destroyed.

It became necessary to shoot the mother bear, and it is feared that the same treatment may yet have to be given the cubs.

In another instance two little cubs were apparently trying to climb a tree, and two little girls tried to give them a helping hand. Just then the mother bear appeared, and cuffed one of the children on the cheek with such violence that medical attention was required, and the girl may carry a scar for life.

In Prince Albert National Park, Saskatchewan, a man was about to enter his cabin when he saw the rear end of a bear protruding from the corner of the building. Realizing that the bear was eating out of the garbage can, he thought it would be a wonderful opportunity to surprise him. Thereupon he picked up a piece of 2x2 and, sneaking up on the bear, gave it a hefty wallop! Quick as a flash the bear whirled around and struck at his attacker, who wasn't quick enough in getting away. Fortunately the man lost only part of his clothing, and was able to get into the cabin before the bear could land another blow or the results might have been much more serious.

The black bear is one of the most playful and humorous of all animals. Let he is still a bear. He does not seek man's company in the first place, and, when it is thrust upon him, he is likely to abuse it. If he is pampered he expects more pampering. If he is given half a pie he will take the other half, if it is within the reach of his powerful paws. Then there are complaints that he has become a nuisance, and he is shot. And it really is not his fault.

formed, have already had an adjustment made on their loss but they cannot rebuild today on account of the restrictions on materials.

Later Friday we spent a short time aboard Nelson's famous flagship the "Victory". Comparing the power of the 104 guns which Nelson's ship carried with modern day equipment, we were told that the weight of ammunition thrown by that cas broadside would barely equal that of one shell thrown by a modern 15-inch gun. German bombs have left their mark on the Victory as one went right through the ship leaving a large gap about ten feet square. The outward appearance, however, is such that one would never suspect it and the famous flagship still stands there as an inspiration to the men of the sea.

On Sunday I paid a visit to Cadford, where 36 school children lost their lives in one of the worst tragedies to strike England during the war. At play during recess the children were struck down by the Hun airmen who blew half their school building and machine gunned the children at play. "I was sitting here in my window," said an aged lady to the writer, "that day when the planes came over. I saw them break into three groups and one group turned towards the school. I heard the awful explosion of the bomb. Thirty-six children were killed and their grave is just a few streets down from here where they are buried together." We had heard there was no military objective in the locality of the school and we went there to see for ourselves. As far as our eyes could see there was no industry of any kind—just a district of homes. Only about thirty criminals could have been responsible for the attack.

A New Bulletin

Line Elevator Farm Service have the enviable distinction of having published the first Canadian bulletin devoted entirely to the problem of water erosion of soils. This was Bulletin No. 1. In less than three years, 50,000 copies were distributed. It has now been out of print for about a year. The urgency of the problem is fully recognized in government circles, and several Dominion Experimental Stations have, for some years, been conducting experiments on control methods.

Bulletin No. 1 was concerned, chiefly, with drawing public attention to the problem itself, and very little space was devoted to control. Bulletin No. 4 is now ready for distribution. It is entitled "Water Erosion of Soils in the Prairie Provinces and Its Control." Mr. L. B. Thomson, Superintendent, Dominion Experimental Station, Swift Current, and his staff, have offered invaluable advice and assistance in the preparation of the manuscript. The bulletin has, also, benefited immensely from criticisms and suggestions made by Professor John Mitchell, University of Saskatchewan, Mr. W. D. Albright, Dominion Experimental Station, Beaveridge, and Mr. M. J. Timlin, Dominion Experimental Farm, Brandon.

The information published is, therefore, authoritative. Farmers, country school teachers and their students may secure copies through Line Elevator agents or by writing directly to Line Elevator Farm Service, Grain Exchange Building, Winnipeg, or Herald Building, Calgary.

Their home address without special permit does not apply to them using their own trucks. By April 1, when the new gasoline ration year starts, the Prices Board figures that every milk transporting truck except that of the farmer hauling his own product will be under strict permit. On the basis of these permits the gasoline requirements of each route will be calculated, for the protection of the dairy industry as a whole. According to the Board, the zoned collections have resulted in reductions up to 44 percent in number of trucks used, with consequent large savings in gas, rubber and equipment.
